STUNT NIGHT AT MEN'S CLUB

Men of South Church Entertain One Another with Program of Music, Readings, Sleight of Hand and Original Sketches

Stunt Night, as enjoyed by the members of the South church Men's club, offered a variety of entertainment on last Friday evening. The stormy weather kept down the attendance, but everyone present enjoyed the evening.

The program opened with selections by an orchestra composed of John A. Arnold, piano, Louis S. Finger, violin, John Fredrickson, saxophone, followed by community singing led by Eugene M. Weeks.

Frank L. Brigham then gave a clever parody on the recent address of Burton S. Flagg on "Insurance." In original rhyme, he told what sort of insurance was most needed for the various members of the club, suggesting riot insurance for the members of the entertainment committee. Dr. Malcolm B. McTernen, Principal Nathan C. Hamblin, Chester D. Abbott and Sam Fisk, and many others figured in the lines.

Fred G. Cheney told some stories and Jesse West showed his skill as a magician. There were more selections by the orchestra, and readings by Nathan C. Hamblin and Rev. E. Victor Bigelow.

A minstrel sketch by Everett Collins and Allen McKinnon included a topical song sung to the tune of "It ain't goin' to rain no more" and contained many clever local hits.

Refreshments of crackers and cheese, ice cream and cake and coffee concluded the evening's entertainment.

Street Lighting Committee Meets

The street lighting committee met on Monday evening and organized with Walter H. Coleman, chairman, and John S. Robertson, secretary.

It is planned to add eight or ten new lights to the system, but their exact location will not be determined until the field has been thoroughly looked over.

No action was taken on the lighting of the streets in Shawsheen which have recently been accepted by the town. The American Woolen company has been furnishing the electricity until such time as the Town takes over the wiring and other equipment. The Town is taking care of the necessary renewal of lamps and glassware.

Andover Liquor Defendant Held in Federal Court

Sebastiano Furnari of River road, Andover, pleaded not guilty to a charge of illegal keeping when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner R. B. Walsh in Lowell Wednesday afternoon. At the request of Federal Agent Walter Sullivan the case was continued until April 9 and bail was fixed at $1000.

Furnari was turned over to the Federal agents after the Andover police had secured a still and large amount of illicit spirits at his farm the early part of March. Some denatured alcohol was also seized.

PRINCESS WATAHWASO

Daughter of Chieftain of Penobscot Tribe Perpetuates Traditions and Songs of Her People

A most unusual and interesting entertainment was given by Princess Wahtahwaso, a full-blooded Indian of the Penobscot tribe, at the regular meeting of the November club held on Monday afternoon.

Attractive, and graceful, she made a perfect picture, whether singing, dancing or only talking to her audience. Her fringed and beaded dress of skin in oyster white constrasted with her dark eyes, and raven black hair caught back with a fillet of beads in blue, a color which was repeated in the lacings and beads of her dress and in the elaborate moccasins.

The legends, dances, and songs of her people, which are fast passing into oblivion, are cherished by the princess who is especially gifted by nature to preserve them for at least another generation.

Her own home is on Indian island, at Oldtown, Maine, where 360 of the Penobscot tribe are the sole inhabitants of an island three miles long and a mile wide. Her brother-in-law was the maker of the original Oldtown canoe, which won a gold medal at the World's fair, and which served as a model for the canoes which now bear that trade name. Her father, whom she intensely admired, was all his life the leader of his tribe and at one time a representative to the State Legislature.

Princess Watahwaso has made a study of the legends of other tribes, so that the ceremonial setting of each song, whether Penobscot, Oneida, Crow, Chippewa, Ojibewa or Zuni was given before the song was sung. Gifted with a rich mezzo-soprano voice, she added emotional feeling and dramatic power to her performance.

She concluded with a plea for the Indian who has been forced out from the lands of his fathers and left in a equivocal position, social, political and economic. The impression left on her audience was certainly such as to improve the understanding and create a feeling of good-will toward the people whom she represented.

The program:

Songs

The Sacrifice (Oneida Prayer) Lieurance
A Crow Maiden's Prayer Song (Crow) Lieurance
By the Weeping Waters (Chippewa) Lieurance
Her Shadow (Ojibewa) Cadman
Invocation to the Sun God Troyer
Apache Medicine Chant Troyer
Lover's Wooing or Blanket Song Troyer
Penobscot Songs — Song of Greeting
Lullaby
Medicine Man Song
Wedding Dance

Your Future

THERE is the wrong way and the right way to shape your future. The wrong way is to "trust to luck," thinking that your future will take care of itself.

The right way is to plan and be prepared for what comes.

This means the saving of money against the time when earnings stop. The accounts in our MUTUAL SAVINGS BANKS in Massachusetts number more than two million. This represents a large army of foresighted people who are planning for the future.

You are in good company when you become a depositor in such a bank.

Phillips Academy Notes

Oliver G. Jennings, '83, chairman of the board of directors of the Phillips Andover alumni fund, will give a dinner on the evening of Friday, April 16, at the Racquet and Tennis club in New York to all the directors and agents. This dinner will be followed by the annual smoker of the New York alumni association, to be held at the Yale club. Principal Alfred E. Stearns will be the chief speaker of the evening.

The figures on the alumni fund campaign to date for 1926 show that 350 men have subscribed $5865. This record compares favorably with that made at a corresponding period in previous years. Among the new class agents appointed this year are Walter Davidson of Worcester for the class of 1869, George B. Foster of Boston for the class of 1879, and J. Kennedy Beeson of Yale for the class of 1925.

The date for Commencement has been announced as Friday, June 18. Reunions are being arranged by the classes of 1876, 1886, 1896, 1901 and 1906.

Vail Medals Awarded by Telephone and Telegraph Company

For noteworthy public service, bronze Vail medals have been awarded by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company to J. Frank Hurley, lineman, of Ayer, Mass., and Hazel R. Burckes, night operator, of Amesbury, Mass.

The awards were made after review of 28 cases recommended for consideration by the committee, which consisted of Vice Presidents William R. Driver, Jr., and Charles S. Pierce; Thomas J. Feeney, assistant to the president; Uila S. Turner, Lynn chief operator; and Annie E. Molloy, assistant to the employment manager Metropolitan Division. The medals are provided from the Memorial Fund created in memory of the late Theodore N. Vail.

J. Frank Hurley is cited for rescuing James E. Curran, a fellow lineman, from death by electric shock at Littleton, Mass., October 23, 1925. Curran had climbed a pole used jointly with an electric lighting company. A guy wire at the upper pole-step was in contact, some distance away, with one phase of a 2300-volt lighting circuit. Supporting himself from the pole-step with one hand, Curran attempted to tighten the clamp of a telephone cable suspension strand with a wrench held in the other. This completed a circuit through his body, which "froze."

Noticing his companion's plight, Hurley climbed the pole, braced himself with a foot on one pole-step and his other leg hooked over a second pole-step, wrenched Curran free, and held him until he could be safely lowered to the ground. Curran was badly shocked and burned. But for Hurley's prompt and fearless action, he undoubtedly would have lost his life.

Mrs. Burckes is cited for initiative and resourcefulness in coming to the aid of a young girl in danger.

On April 20, 1925, she answered a line signal, but the only response was a muffled scream. She knew someone was in distress or peril; but there are six parties on that line, and she had no way of telling from which telephone the call came. She quickly looked up the names and addresses of all six, and was on the point of reporting to the police, when she was interrupted by a call for a certain subscriber on that line. She rang, and from her line signals knew the receiver was removed from the hook in answer; but what she heard was a man's voice profanely ordering someone to "get away from that telephone." Mrs. Burckes at once called the police, and urged them to hurry to this specific address. They arrived in time to frustrate a vicious attack on a young girl by a man who had broken into the house.

In its report the committee makes honorable mention of three other employees. Francis J. Dunn, wire chief at Haverhill, Mass., gave first aid and helped save the life of a man suffering from electric shock; John C. Griffin, line foreman at Framingham, Mass., caught unhurt a panic-stricken woman who jumped from the window of a burning building; and Stanley I. Whipple, a Boston clerk, resuscitated a half-drowned swimmer by use of the Schaffer method.

REPERTORY THEATRE

"The Circle," W. Somerset Maughan's Comedy, will again be the attraction at the Repertory Theatre for the coming week. For, in spite of poor business all around town because of Holy week, this play attracted large audiences to the Repertory theatre.

The novel situations and the smartness of the lines go to make "The Circle" one of the very best comedies in recent years. It had a tremendous vogue here in Boston when played in 1921, and it seems now to be repeating at the Huntington Avenue Playhouse.

The cast at the Repertory are in every way equal to the demands made upon them by this play, and give performances which do not suffer by comparison with original companies.

Among those in the cast are: Ruth Taylor, Peg Entwistle, Charles Quartermaine, William Kershaw, Horace Pollock, Ross Alexander, and Agnes Elliot Scott.

Coming week of April 12, Sir James M. Barrie's "The Little Minister."

If the Boston & Maine Used the Stadium for a Coal Bin

It takes a lot of coal to run a railroad. If the Harvard Stadium had been the coal bin of the Boston and Maine in 1925, the fuel consumed by its locomotives in passenger and freight service would have filled the great amphitheater to the top three times. And there would still be almost enough coal left to fill it again. The Boston and Maine in 1925 used 1,141,442 net tons of coal which cost $5,593,066.

Yet the most interesting of the railroad's figures on coal consumption, probably, are those of fuel saving. It is shown that the railroad by making its tons of coal do more work in 1925 than ever before saved by comparison with 1920, 192,056 net tons of coal, or enough to fill two-thirds of the big stadium bin. This represents the results of increased efficiencies and economies in fuel consumption over the past five years.

The saving in 1925 as compared with the previous year amounted to 42,236 net tons. Consumption was reduced from 152 pounds for hauling 1000 tons of freight and equipment, including locomotive and tender, one mile, to 146 pounds, and for hauling a passenger car one mile from 19.1 pounds to 18.5 pounds.

A further effort to effect fuel savings was begun the first of the year under a novel plan. Using the budget system, coal consumption is being measured by operating divisions in tons and pounds per unit of service, just as the expenditures of the railroad generally are budgeted in dollars and cents. Each division superintendent has been made responsible for his share of the coal budget, the figures of which have been based on a reduction of 5% from the consumption unit of last year. If this further saving is effected it will mean an additional economy of 57,072 net tons this year.

Notwithstanding a budget deficit caused by the storm conditions of February and the generally severe winter of 1926, efforts are being made to gain the economies that were anticipated during the remainder of the year.

Combined Ages of Five Women Total 465 Years

Billingsbrough, England.—Under the same roof in this village are five women all related, whose combined ages total 465—an average of 93. They are all active. Two of them earn a living by knitting and dressmaking, while the other three do housework.

The patriarch of the household is ninety-seven, but still gets out to do the shopping, while the flapper of eighty-seven spends most of her time doing the kitchen work and chores. The others are aged ninety-three, ninety-six and ninety-two.

Deserter Wins Freedom by His Courageous Act

Washington.—Parker W. Hayden, serving time at the Portsmouth naval prison for desertion and facing dishonorable discharge, was ordered released and restored to active duty by Secretary Wilbur in recognition of a courageous attempt to save two men from drowning.

In spite of warnings that he would lose his own life, Hayden went to the rescue of Captain H. W. Osterhaus and Marine Gunner J. S. McNulty, who had broken through the ice of a pond while on an inspection trip to the prison. Bystanders pulled all three out of the water alive

Enriching the "Three R's"

Time was when the education of youth centered around the "three R's." Not only did teaching revolve around this trio but it confined itself solely to it. That day is past. We have discovered there are some things as vitally necessary to education — the development of character and physique, a stimulation for truth, the promotion of clear thinking and clean living.

Today Reading, Writing and Arithmetic are basic as ever. But it is a more rounded training that develops reasoning and fosters individuality. We have outgrown primitive educational methods.

Likewise our attitude toward living has changed. We build better homes; we have reduced our working hours and increased our social activities. Our playgrounds have supplanted the alleys for our boys and our parks afford the picnic grounds for our citizens. School buildings have become the Community Center for play and social recreation and the headquarters for adult education and training.

We have come from an existing to an evolving life. We are striving to make education a means to wisdom. Today the school house is the measuring rod of progress. Often it is the architectural pride of the community. It is equipped beyond the dreams of a generation ago. Class rooms and subject matter no longer repel pupils. Compulsory attendance laws do not account for the yearly pyramiding of school attendance. The teacher personality, combined with fresh air, sunshine and good cheer are impelling. Physical development is encouraged, the practical in education stressed and the cultural side of life emphasized. Music, art and drama have become an important part of the curriculum. Foundations are laid for better and more abundant living and a finer spirit of human relations.

These influences reach beyond the pupil into the home. More and more are we bringing the school into relationship with the family. The Parent-Teacher Associations have proved the connecting link. They are an evidence of the growth of a common interest in educational work.

Our schools are the mirrors of our national progress. It is one of the blessings of our democracy that we keep these schools pliant, responsive to the country's growth. We are of those who feel that the "three R's" have not suffered by the change but that a great stride has been taken beyond them. We have added to these the "three C's" — Character, Culture and Citizenship.

The enriching of the "Three R's" is a story not only of educational progress but likewise community betterment. — Issued by The Better Schools League, 53 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

Children to Enter School Without Handicap

Massachusetts is doing pioneer work in making it possible for children to enter school without handicap of physical defects. Preschool conferences are being held all over the State for the examination of apparently well children, in order to have defects corrected before the child enters school. Large numbers of cases of diseased teeth, tonsils and adenoids, poor nutrition and posture are found among this apparently well group of children. These defects have been serious handicaps in school, in many cases causing repeating of grades. Now the conference patients are referred to their family physicians or dentists for correction of defects in order that 100% health be acquired before the child enters school.

C. E. Union Meets at South Church

The Andover Christian Endeavor union held its bi-monthly meeting Monday evening in the South church. In the absence of the president, James R. Carter, Miss Dorothy Trott presided over a short business meeting after which the meeting was turned over to the members of the South society for the entertainment of the evening.

During the business session, the reports of the various officers and department superintendent were read and accepted. The report of the publicity superintendent showed that the union has had 758¼ inches of publicity during the present county year and with its handicap of 40 per cent it will bring the total up to 1061¼ inches which will no doubt place Andover union in the running for county honors at the convention to be held in Lynn, April 19.

A delegation was present from the Lynn union, telling of the plans which have been made for the convention which will be somewhat similar to those carried out by Andover union last year.

Arrangements for transporting the delegates are in charge of James R. Carter and William Barnet who are arranging to have busses transport those who intend to go to the convention. Those who intend to go are asked to communicate with the above members or speak to their society presidents in order that suitbale accommodations can be made.

A social was enjoyed after the business session, games being played and refreshments served.

People Will Comment on the Goodness of YOUR Bread —

if it's 20th Century

You have heard people comment on the pastry that they had in certain homes—or the appetizing cup of coffee. Similarly in many of the homes in the Andovers, the guests remark on the surpassing goodness of the bread. It is 20th CENTURY BREAD that they enthuse over. For with 20th CENTURY, fresh, delicious, bread on the table, bread eating becomes a wonderful treat.

There's something winning about 20th CENTURY BREAD. When you take it from its dust-proof wrapper, just its golden-brown, crispy appearance will whet your appetite. And when you eat it—why, it's BETTER than home-made.

Today 20th CENTURY is the best baked, best tasting, and most healthful bread you can buy.

Camp Andover to Be for Girls

Beginning with the coming July, Camp Andover, which for six years has been used both for the boys and girls of greater Boston as a camping place, will hereafter be used only for the girls, giving them a month each for the older group and the younger group instead of two weeks as heretofore.

There has been a new camp established on Lake Winnisquam, New Hampshire, under the same direction as Camp Andover, for the boys who have enjoyed the privileges of the Andover camp before and newcomers who come under the jurisdiction of these camp officials.

The new camp is called Camp Waldron and is situated in a wild country on a lake itself fifteen miles long which connects with Lake Winnepesaukee and offers canoeing, swimming, mountain climbing and really wild out-of-doors. It has over a mile of shore front stretching along a beach of silvery sand, having two walled-in springs and a brook tumbling past.

The counselors this year will be of the same high type that have made Camp Andover famous. Everett Baker, Dartmouth 1924, assistant minister of Mount Vernon church, Boston, will be in charge. Frederick P. Latimer, Ira L. Chappell, and others will be there.

Special attention is called to the possibility of boys remaining through August. Twenty-five boys at one time is the capacity. The dates are as follows: July 1 to July 15, boys from 15 to 18; July 16 to July 30, boys from 11 to 14; August 2 to August 30, boys from 11 to 18.

Camp Andover will take care of the girls this summer and each group will have a month of healthful activity in the out-of-doors. There will be more chance for learning the nature craft, the swimming and the various duties of camp craft in this length of time than before and those who are to be in camp will surely appreciate it.

Junior High School Notes

An athletic association is being organized. Several preliminary mass meetings have been held and it is expected that officers will be chosen at the next meeting.

Teachers have found it possible to visit schools in other towns during the past month.

Miss Anna Robertson who has been at the Junior High School for practice work has completed that part of her course and has returned to the Bridgewater Normal School.

It is a matter for rejoicing that the Attendance Banner which goes each month to the school having the highest attendance remains in the Stowe building where it has been held three months this year in spite of all the sickness. Last year this building held it four months.

The Arbor Day program this year will be in the hands of the Nature Club.

The general science club has enjoyed the assembling of a small electric motor, which worked very satisfactorily in operating a small power unit.

Orchestra rehearsals are being held on Wednesdays after school. The presence of three members from the Shawsheen school with violins is very welcome.

Cutler Wins Johnny Mack Trophy

B. C. Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Cutler of Abbot street, Yale's star football, hockey, and track athlete, won further distinction on Saturday when he captured the Johnny Mack Trophy, which is symbolic of the all-around track championship of the university.

The trophy is given each year in memory of the late John McNamara, who for eighteen years was closely connected with Yale athletics as trainer of the football team and coach of the track squad. Six men competed for the trophy on Saturday.

On Easter afternoon at four o'clock there will be a service with carols, distribution of plants to the children, and the offering of the children's Lenten mite boxes. The Lenten bands will be awarded. A short address will be made by a Henry B. Duncan, a missionary speaker from Liberia.

North Parish Church

Easter Sunday will be a day of unusual significance at the North Parish church (Unitarian) North Andover Centre. Rev. S. E. Beane, who has been supplying the pulpit for the past two months, begins his second pastorate of the old historic church founded in 1645, and mother of all the Andover churches. There will be an Easter service at 10.30 with special quartette and sermon on: "The Easter Message." The children and young people of the church school, unite with the congregation and plants will be distributed at the close of this service.

At twelve o'clock there will be an Easter celebration of the church school. Parents and friends of the school are invited. Mr. Beane will give a brief talk taking as his subject: "Using One's Eyes."

The Easter offering is for the flower fund which decorates the pulpit not only on Easter, but at other seasons of the year. The flowers are distributed among the sick and shut-ins.

It is expected that the Unitarians of Andover will be well represented on Easter Sunday.

Steam Not Smoke

A cellar full of steam that escaped from a boiler in the residence of Claude Minor of Maple avenue, was the cause of an alarm from Box 57 shortly before 11 o'clock Monday morning. Ada Minor, a schoolgirl, confined to her bed with scarlet fever, was not the least bit disturbed by the clanging fire engines and noises that resulted from the escaping steam and excitement that followed.

"Olivet to Calvary" Presented at Christ Church

The performance of Maunder's "Olivet to Calvary" took place Palm Sunday evening in Christ church, when Andover and the neighborhood demonstrated their appreciation of the highly trained body of voices composing Christ Church Choir by again filling the church. Mr. Brown is to be congratulated on his choir; both on its spirit and its results. The blending of voices, the clear tone of the boys, the precision of attack and a due regard to the delicacies of the tempo and expression show very careful and skillful work in the choir room. It was altogether a splendid evening.

The soloists were all in fine form. Mr. Gates was missed, but the selection of Harry Wilkinson of Lawrence brought a substitute equal in every way to the demands suddenly called for. In the airs "Like a Fair Vision" and "Not of This World," Mr. Wilkinson showed to the best advantage the excellent quality of his voice. His rendering also was very tasteful in "Ye Who Sin." In the airs "O Jerusalem," "A New Commandment" and "Gethsemane," Everett Collins, an old favorite with Andover audiences, gave the resonance and dramatic fervor associated with his work. His singing of "And When They Came" was intense, and yet unlike most singers who aspire to be dramatic, he did not overdo it, but kept it in perfect taste. Mrs. Cornewell's solos were very well rendered but she was obviously still suffering from the prevailing cold. Miss Minnie Valentine was new to most of her audience, but made a very pleasing first appearance. Another newcomer was Reginald Norton who has a rich voice of promise. It is hoped that more will be heard of these two young people in the future. The quartettes were a little ragged, and perhaps "O Thou Whose Sweet Compassion" might have been taken a little slower with comfort. This weak spot was undoubtedly due to the conditions under which the tenor and soprano were working and needed just another rehearsal. The accompaniments on the organ and piano were in good hands and were ably supported by Mr. Poole on the tympani. One feature perhaps worthy of note was the Processional. It was a magnificent start and gave a thrill equal to the chorus singing in "Crucify Him" or the "Choral March." Both the choir and its director have reasons to be proud of this achievement.

Miss Mehlman Showered

Miss Eva Mehlamn was the guest of honor at a shower held at the home of Mrs. John Alexander, 74 Summer street last Friday evening, when she was presented with a beautiful floor lamp by her associates in the Tyer Rubber company, in honor of her coming marriage to Frank Pope of Pine Point, Maine, which will take place in the summer.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion in pink and white and the hostesses were Mrs. John Alexander and Miss Catherine Driscoll. As Miss Mehlman entered the room, she was showered with confetti from a big wedding bell in the center.

During the evening a social time was enjoyed, and a good deal of fun was occasioned by a mock marriage. Miss Edith Wrigley was the groom, Miss Alice Wrigley the bride, Miss Helen Hackney the best man, Miss Rita Bell the bridesmaid, Miss Rose Markey the flower girl, Miss Mary Bell the ring-bearer, and Miss Helen O'Connor the clergyman. Miss Dora Dennison played the wedding march.

Vocal selections were given by Miss Rose Arsenault, Georgina Petrie and Rose Markey, and Miss Ruth O'Connell gave piano selections. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, ice cream and coffee were served.

Among those present were Catherine Driscoll, Helen O'Connor, Edith and Alice Wrigley, Mary and Rita Bell, Mrs. Margaret McDonald, Margaret Driscoll, Dora and Gladys Dennison, Rose Markey, Mrs. Jennie Coates, Mrs. Sarah Smith, Helen O'Neil, Agnes Sullivan, Mrs. Dorothy Wrigley, Martha Thompson, Catherine Haggerty, Grace and Loretta Abercrombie, Ruth O'Connell, Mrs. John Alexander and Rita Welch.

Lagging Justice

Gerald Chapman, the most notorious gunman in the country, has been making a plaything of the law. Granted a reprieve three times by Governor Trumbull of Connecticut, he is now requesting a fourth. Such laxity and soft-heartedness by the Judiciary toward a desperate criminal is one symptom of a deep-rooted ailment in the administration of criminal law.

The slowness of the police and detectives in making arrests in this country is exasperating, witness the half-forgotten case of officer Black. After the accused has been caught, he waits for months, very often before he is tried. The trial, instead of being confined strictly to the question of whether the defendant is guilty or not guilty, frequently becomes an undignified, stage-like performance with the actors playing to the whole country through the medium of newspapers hungry for sensational news. The juries, picked only after scores of men have been called, not seldom contain large-scale law breakers. And if found guilty, the criminal usually can resort to some legal trickery to postpone almost indefinitely the day of punishment.

As contrasted with this it is refreshing to read a report of a murder trial in England as witnessed by members of the American Bar Association and reported in a recent issue of the World's Work:

The trial took place three weeks from the time of the crime. The jury was accepted within ten minutes. The examination of witnesses proceeded with rapidity. The judge conducted a large part of the examination. He controlled, limited and directed the examination by counsel. Cross-examinations were short and to the point. The jury returned a verdict of guilty within twenty minutes. IMMEDIATELY the judge sentenced the defendant to death. The whole trial lasted six hours.

Editorial Cinder

The death of Mr. Edward Pike Chapin removes another industrial leader from our midst. Those whose privilege it was to number him among their friends will mourn his passing, not as a captain of industry but as a man with a charming personality and delightful character. Greatly esteemed by his acquaintances, Mr. Chapin will leave a place in their memories filled with kindly reminiscences.

The large transfer of Shawsheen property which has just taken place brings about a significant change in ownership but not a change for the worse in policy. The huge real estate interests who saw fit to invest their funds here in exchange for the Park Square Building will probably have some very interesting and beneficial plans in mind regarding the Shawsheen property. We trust that in their hands the buildings will be fully utilized to the advantage both of the owners and of Andover.

Abbot Academy Opens Doors to School of Citizenship

By invitation of Abbot Academy, the Massachusetts League of Women Voters will hold a Citizenship school at the academy, Abbot hall, Wednesday, April 28, with a morning and afternoon session. Local arrangements will be in the hands of the Andover League of Women Voters.

Of more than passing interest is this cooperation between Abbot academy, a pioneer in the education of women, and the League of Women Voters, a 20th Century pioneer in the political education of voting women.

It is announced that the sessions will be opened to the public. The program is now under consideration, Mrs. True Worthy White, Civic Director of the Massachusetts League, having recently been in Andover to confer with Miss Bertha Bailey, principal of Abbot, Miss Amelia Shapleigh, and Mrs. Herbert F. Fraser, president of the Andover League.

More Attractions for the Farm and Garden Conference

The Farm and Garden Conference held under the auspices of the November club for a series of years has come to be looked upon as an essential part of the spring program. It seems incredible that new exhibits and speakers of equal interest can be found each year. In this respect, this year's committee has been especially enterprising and new attractions are announced each week.

In addition to the items already mentioned in these columns, which would in themselves be worth a trip to the clubhouse, the committee adds this week an exhibition by the Churchill weavers of Berea, Kentucky, which will include lovely scarfs in a variety of colors and styles, towels, luncheon sets and dress patterns. An entirely new idea in gathering baskets evolved by a local woman, is also promised.

For the practical person, there will be an exhibition of garden tools, and for those of aesthetic tastes, one of book-binding. In fact, the binding of books will actually be in process under the hands of Miss Frances Thompson.

The program of speakers for morning and afternoon, will be announced next week.

The usual cafeteria luncheon will be served at noon.

Large Class Received at the Free Church

At the Communion service held last night at the Free church, fifty-six new members were received into the fellowship of the church. Just previous to the service in the church, the principal address of the evening was given in the parish house to the class, telling them "The Meaning of Church Membership." In his words of advice Mr. Church told them that church membership meant that they should support the church, attend the church both for fellowship and worship, study the Bible, pray every day and live the Christian life honestly, helpfully, hopefully and with noble aspirations.

The senior choir led the processional into the church and the anthem sung was "Nearer My God to Thee" by Spence.

Rev. Frederick A. Wilson, D.D., assisted at the service and read the Scripture lesson.

Directors of Fraternal Association Reorganize

The directors of the Fraternal association met in Fraternal hall Tuesday evening and reorganized for the ensuing year. James C. Souter was elected president; William A. Allen, first vice president; David M. May, second vice president; William Faulkner, second vice president. William Faulkner, clerk, and Walter Buxton, treasurer, were elected earlier in the year. The purpose of the meeting was for outlining plans for the coming year.

Vitamine Luncheon at Guild

An inexpensive luncheon, rich in vitamines, was served under the direction of Mrs. Eva Osgood at the Guild house Saturday noon at one o'clock. Places were laid for one hundred persons but only about twenty-five sat down.

The menu consisted of soup, patty shells filled with braised beef heart, bread and butter, a raw vegetable salad made of lettuce, carrot and beet; lemon sponge with custard, frosted cakes and coffee. The patty shells, bread and cake were all made of the first and second clear flour.

It was computed that such a luncheon served for one hundred people would cost nine cents apiece without the coffee and ten cents and a half with the coffee. When the repast was finished, Mrs. Osgood described the method of preparing the various dishes and their vitamine content, and also told some interesting facts concerning the manufacture of flour and butter.

The members of the League of Woman Voters in charge of the luncheon were Miss Amelia Shapleigh, Mrs. Edward Cole and Mrs. James J. Feeney. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Elizabeth Hurley, Mrs. Percy Dole, Mrs. Mabel Miller, Mrs. Grace Goodwillie, and Miss Mary Cole.

Among those present were Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, Miss Helen Tewksbury, Miss Underhill, Miss Edith Donald, Mrs. William A. Trow, Mrs. Willis Tewksbury, Mrs. H. Gilbert Francke, Mrs. F. W. H. Stott, Miss Sarah MacKeown, Mrs. Joram Sheppard, Mrs. Michael J. Marr, Miss Coolidge of Brookline, Mrs. C. Carleton Kimball, Mrs. Guy Eaton, and Miss Silvia Shapleigh.

To Have Extra Days Off

Andover police officers will now have one day off in eight, according to Chief F. M. Smith, who has been notified to that effect by the selectmen. This will mean two more holidays in the month, and is made possible by the addition of two more men to the police force. Formerly the men had one day off in fifteen.

Attended Birthday Celebration

Mrs. Joseph Higginson and Mrs. Harold Austin of this town attended the birthday celebration of their mother, Mrs. Elvira J. Stowe, held in Hudson on Saturday afternoon, and were present at a family dinner held in her honor Sunday.

Mrs. Stowe is ninety years of age and particularly active for one of her years. She received many gifts and good wishes on her birthday.

The 1926 Cabaret Mintrels of the Andover Square and Compass Club will give the first performance in the Town hall next Thursday evening and everything points to a successful production. It will be repeated the following night and full houses are assured for both nights as the demand for tickets has been large.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Amos B. Loomer of Ballardvale announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice, to Frank Tyler Carlton, son of Mrs. Frank T. Carlton of Central street, Andover.

The Ground Hog and the Street Fair

The general committee for the Street Fair, which is to be held under the auspices of the November Club, has decided to postpone the date to May 19. As the ground hog has hardly acted the part of a gentleman and as Andover is still snowed in under the wintry blasts, thoughts of tamborine girls attired in overshoes and fur mufflers and Scotch pipes wrapped toga-wise in horse blankets were most disturbing.

So the date stands at present, May 19.

Lock street is to be transformed into a street fair. The various homes with their grounds will be open to the public where articles of every description will be for sale. There will be banners by day and colored lights by night to add to the gala occasion.

Among the many attractive features will be a Japanese tea garden, a tent where the children may enjoy a Punch and Judy show, the Scotch pipes, supper at the Manse, card parties at three of the homes and dancing at the November Club house. Many beautiful and useful articles will be for sale; oriental goods, jewelry, scissors and fans, pictures, bags and handkerchiefs, containers for flowers, and baskets from the Salem jail, home-made cakes and candy, ice cream, books, domestic embroideries, the Bromley-Shepard dresses, toys, grabs, dolls, and Simple Simon with his pies.

The costumes will be lovely and colorful and everyone will attempt to look as beautiful as possible.

Half the proceeds of the Street Fair will be added to a scholarship fund in which the November Club is interested.

Weed Out, Don't Hoard!

Kindly begin looking over your closets, bureau drawers and store rooms, always with the thought of the Andover Guild rummage sale which will be held in May, in your mind. Moths are worse than the theives which break in and steal, so don't hoard but give. A rummage sale is really an "unnatural" museum where one finds bed steads, books and brooms, robes, rugs and roller skates. If you are not able to deliver your unwanted treasures please notify Mrs. W. D. Walker or Miss Kuhn who will see that they are called for.

Percy Grainger Possesses Brilliant Technique

A concert will be given by Percy Grainger, pianist-composer, in the chapel of Phillips academy on Wednesday evening, April 14.

The Des Moines, Iowa, Register says of this artist:

"Plays with great virility, he possesses an extraordinary sense of rhythm, and his pianissimo passages were as impressive as his titanic powers."

The La Crosse, Wisconsin Tribune, says:

"Grainger's brilliant technique and faultless rhythm place him among the foremost pianists of America, and his recital will long be remembered as one of the most pleasurable musical treats ever offered to a La Crosse audience."

Trip Around the World

Less than tow weeks will elaspse before April 13, the date set for the trip around the world arranged by the A. P. C. sorority of the South church. A ticket at twenty-five cents will provide for transportation from America to Scotland, Holland, China and the North Pole, but if travelers provide their own transportation, a ticket will still be required as a passport to admit them to the countries visited.

The chop suey supper will be served in China and those who are planning to satisfy their hunger at that station in their travels should telephone 347-M.

CHINA
At China there is a big treat,
With Chinese things to buy and eat,
So visit China everyone
For loads to eat and loads of fun!
For there's chop-suey piping hot,
By Chinese maids served on the spot,
And Chinese toys and trinkets too,
They hope that you will buy a few,
So visit this fair land and see
How quaint a Chinaman can be!
And 'neath the Chinese lanterns dwell
Enjoying all their magic spell!

At the home of Mrs. E. Victor Bigelow, Locke Street.

SCOTLAND
Hurrah for bonny Scotland!
Where bluebells, bagpipes, heat'her,
Greet visitors with welcome gay
No matter what the weather!
Pray don't miss merry Scotland
As "round the world" you go,
Because in this old country
You'll find them not so slow!
With dancing and with singing
They mean to make time fly,
And Scotch shortcake and goodies
They hope you all will buy!

Punchard Squad Out

Coach Eugene V. Lovely called out his battery candidates Tuesday afternoon. Although the prospects of a strong team were not very bright, a large squad has responded to the call, including infielders and outfielders.

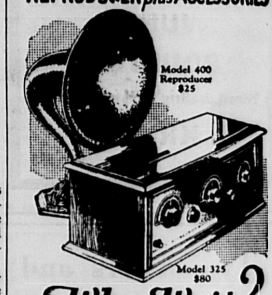

Captain Oscar Swenson will be the mainstay in the box and is the only man on the squad who is sure of a pitching berth at this time. However, it is expected that either Bill McDonald or Gordon Coutts will make the grade. Another strong prospect is Phillips, the big fullback on last fall's eleven. Phillips is a big boy and has a lot of speed. Coach Lovely expects that Phillips will come through. This will give him a chance to try out Coutts and McDonald at the catching berth although Blunt must be figured on for this position. It is also possible that either Phillips, Coutts or McDonald will be seen at the third-base position. Coach Lovely spent most of the day batting out flies and also tried out several infielders.

Lawrence Garden Club to Hold Conference

The program for the annual garden conference to be held in Trinity church, Lawrence on April 21, will include as speakers Mrs. Nellie B. Allen of New York, a famous landscape architect, who is to give a lantern lecture on "Plan, Design, and Location of the Garden"; Winthrop Thurlow of the Cherry Hill nurseries; Mrs. Archibald Hulme who will talk on "How to Enjoy a Garden;" and Miss Edith Mank who will speak on "Insects." The chairman of the conference is Mrs. William D. Twiss.

At the next meeting of the Lawrence Garden club to be held on April 29, Mrs. William A. Trow of Shawsheen Village will speak on "The Garden in Spring."

Cockermouth Camp Rally and Reunion

On Friday evening, March 26, Cockermouth Camp held a rally at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn on Locke street. Eighteen boys enjoyed stunts and games, toasted marshmallows around the open fire, listened to stories of summer good times, and looked at pictures.

On Saturday, March 27, the former members of the Camp held a very large and enthusiastic reunion luncheon at the Boston City Club. Short speeches were made by George Sanborn, who outlined plans for future activities of the camp, and by D. Hardwick Bigelow, who reminisced on his experiences as the first counselor.

A silver honor cup, to be held each year by the best all-around camp boy, was presented by Stephen Weston of Danvers, a Cockermouth boy of ten years ago. The cup was won this year by Henry Booth of Bradford. Previous winners of the honor include Thomas Walker and Samuel Boutwell of Andover.

Following the speeches, a very entertaining crayon talk was given by Pitt Parker of Boston.

Over a dozen Andover men and boys were in the party.

Christ Church Notes

The special Parish Meeting on Monday night at 8 o'clock will be of particular interest because of the Parish House addition project.

The annual sale and play of the Girls' Friendly Society is always a matter of interest. This year they will take place on Monday night, April 12.

The Boy Scouts will receive their badges at the 10.45 service on the Sunday after Easter.

The plan of the Parish House addition and the model are on exhibition and will be shown on Monday night.

Service of Music at Free Church

A very impressive Holy Week service of music, alternating with selections from the Scriptures read by Rev. Alfred C. Church, was held at the Free church on Tuesday evening. Dr. Pfatteicher presided at the organ and the quartette was made up Rulon Robison and Harry Wilkinson, tenors; and J. Everett Collins and Thomas Parkinson, basses.

Unfortunately the piano music by Mrs. John C. Angus had to be omitted, as the temperature of the auditorium was so low that the organ and piano could not be played together. It was not until the close of the service that the temperature rose to the point where the organ could be played with the piano as it was pitched.

Previous to the service in the church, two selections were played by the trombone chorus. The trombonists were George Leacock, George Petrie, Alfred Robb, George Carmichal, Alexander Bertram, David Forbes and the Dunlich brothers.

The program:

Prelude—How beautiful are Thy dwellings (from the "Requiem") Brahms
Congregational Hymn—When I survey the woundrous cross
1. Passion History—The Last Supper
Quartette—Ave Verum Mosart
2. Passion History—Gethsemane
Quartette—In silent night (Christ in Gethsemane) Brahms
3. Passion History—The trial
Quartette—What laws, oh blessed Jesus, hast Thou broken Cruger
4. Passion History—The crucifixion
Quartette—Tenebrae factae sunt Haydn
5. Passion History—The death
Quartette—O sacred head, now wounded Hassler
6. Passion History—The burial
Quartette—Beati Mortui Mendelssohn
Congregational Hymn—In the Cross of Christ I glory

Concluding meditation—Ye have now sorrow, but joy shall come to you (from the "Requiem") Brahms

EDWARD PIKE CHAPIN

The friends of Edward Pike Chapin mourn deeply his sudden death at Mount Dora, Florida, March 20. The passing of a person of rare charm and personality from our midst is always a shock and a grievous blow. The sweetness of Mr. Chapin's nature, the intense loyalty of his friendship, and his innate modesty reflected a splendid character and drew to him every one with whom he came in contact. It was given to few men to enjoy in such a degree the respect, admiration and affection of all who had the privilege of his acquaintance. Gentle in spirit, patient and charitable, he was yet a man of great force and strong will.

As the son of William C. Chapin, an agent of the Pacific Mills and later founder of the Riverside Mills in Providence, Mr. Chapin inherited an interest in textile manufacturing. His genius and ability made him an outstanding leader in the textile world and gained for him an enviable reputation. His business associates recognized his talent by appointments to positions of great responsibility.

In 1891 he left Providence to become agent of the Washington Mills in Lawrence and at this time took up his residence in Andover. His success in this position is well known to all mill men of that generation. In 1899 he was one of the small group of able men who organized and made possible the American Woolen Company. With his training and experience, his selection as general agent of the Company logically followed. The magnitude of the task of organizing and coordinating the production of twenty-three large mills may well be left to the imagination, but it was successfully accomplished, and due recognition of Mr. Chapin's services to the Company in these early years should be accorded. In 1904 he resigned to engage in manufacturing on his own account at Concord, Mass., and a few years later retired from business.

Mr. Chapin was born in Tiverton, Rhode Island, August 19, 1849, the son of William C., and Sarah Barton Chapin, and was the ninth in descent from Deacon Samuel Chapin who settled in Roxbury in 1635, or earlier, and later was one of the first settlers of Springfield in 1642.

DANIEL O'CONNELL

Daniel O'Connell, one of the oldest residents of Lawrence, died early Thursday morning at the family home, 117 East Haverhill street, after a brief illness . The cause of death was pneumonia.

He was born in Ireland, but came to this country in his youth, and has been a resident of Lawrence practically ever since. His wife survives him, and had Mr. O'Connell lived until October they would have celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. In addition to his wife, the deceased is survived by two sons, John F., of this town, president of the advertising firm of O'Connell-Ingalls of Boston and Daniel V., of Belmont, former Lawrence newspaperman; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Vashon of Northampton, Mrs. Rose Connelly of North Andover and Miss Anna, a teacher in the Prospect street school, Lawrence; and sixteen grand children.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning. Owing to Holy Week regulations, a funeral mass will not be celebrated, but the body will be taken into St. Laurence's church at ten o'clock and the customary Holy Saturday service will be read. A requiem mass for the deceased will be celebrated at a later date. Burial will take place in the family lot in the Immaculate Conception cemetery, Lawrence.

My Risen Lord

By Rev. C. Norman Bartlett

I
Upon the Cross my Saviour died;
In rock-hewn tomb they buried Him.
Foes cruel gloated in their pride;
Friends stricken groped in shadows dim.
Ye burdened hearts, by sin oppressed,
Christ is not dead, slain by His foes.
Arise in joy, be not distressed,
He ever lives to banish woes.

II
From starry skies an angel came;
For fear of him the guards did quake.
He called to Christ the Lord by name,
From death's deep slumber to awake.
Spirit of God, smite every rock
That buries Christ from human souls;
Put thou to flight all those who mock,
Bless every word that Christ extolls.

III
With mighty strength Christ burst the tomb,
And walked abroad in splendor bright;
Away slunk Death in all his gloom,
Back to the realms of darkest night.
Our Lord divine will ever burst
All bonds of sin and gruesome fear,
If we but make Him truly first
And seek to keep Him always near.

IV
As Mary weeping stood alone,
Torn by her doubts, crushed by her grief,
Her Saviour called in sweetest tone.
Up she arose in glad belief.
O ye who sigh and sadly moan
Over the sins that waste your souls,
Christ calls to you, He will atone
And help you win eternal goals.

Unique Articles at Sale of Ladies' Benevolent Society

On next Friday, April 9, from three to eight, the Ladies' Benevolent Society of the Free church will hold their Spring Sale. Besides the apron and fancy tables there will be the home-cooked food and candy tables always so popular as to be sold out early in the afternoon. Tea will be served from four to six, and an early evening entertainment with music will follow.

An especially interesting feature will be the imported pottery, baskets and woven articles — just a few of each design. These will appeal to the people who have been making Italian table linens — pottery plates, odd dishes and flower bowls. Garden lovers will want the genuine Italian fish baskets in rough dark split willow. The large size comfortably fits a good sized haddock; the small one, a dipper of herring. The imagination fills them with larkspur and Killarney roses — unique and very cheap.

To the Fire Department, Ballardvale and Andover:

Miss Tracy and Miss Byington wish to express to the Fire Department, their thanks and deep appreciation for very efficient and prompt service at the time of the recent fire at their house on High street, Ballardvale.

South Church C. E. Notes

Sunday evening the South church Christian Endeavor society held a missionary meeting on the subject, "The Gospel in the Near East." Howard Trott led and read the Scripture from Isaiah 54:11-17. There are two religions in the Near East; the Christian and the Mohammedan. The Turks, who adhere to the latter religion, have for several years persecuted the Armenians and the people of other smaller countries who believe in the Christian faith. The United States, first as usual in evangelistic work, has been sending to Asia Minor large sums of money for relief and many missionaries to spread the gospel.

The meetings have been very well attended lately, the number present usually being thirty and thirty-five.

Visit Modeltown Next Week

A group of Andover women, at the suggestion of Mrs. Herbert Fraser of 18 Salem street, is planning to attend Modeltown exhibit in Boston next week.

Everything is now set for the success of this unique exhibit opening on Wednesday evening, April 7, with Governor Fuller in attendance and with representatives of the American Legion, the State of Massachusetts, the Army and the Navy present, to dedicate on the Village Green, just such a memorial to the heroes of the great war as may be found in the central square of many New England villages. The remaining five days and nights of the show will offer a varied program of entertainment well worth making a special trip to Boston to attend.

Particular interest attaches to the program for Saturday, April 10, Old New England Day. In recognition of his devotion to the institutions of old New England, Henry Ford has been invited to be a guest of honor on this day and old-fashioned dances and an old-time singing school and an intercollegiate spelling match are among the attractions to be featured. Another afternoon of widespread interest comes on Tuesday, April 13, when the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs is sponsoring a music memory contest in which school children from all over the state will participate. The successful contestants will elect themselves as eligible to be sent to the biennial of the Women's Clubs, to be held in Atlantic City this spring.

Modeltown with its village church, town hall, schoolhouse, community centre and attractive residential section will be veritably "your ideal New England Village in miniature." But it will also provide a unique and attractive exhibit of varied arts and industries and of social, civic and educational activities. The latest word in social and civic progress along community and health lines will here be shown in a striking and dramatic way by the use of photographs, delineascope pictures, little theatre exhibits and the like. A particularly striking feature will be the demonstration by diabetic patients in the Boston Dispensary's booth of the self-administration of Insulin.

And twenty-five cents admits to everything in this valuable Exposition, which the Massachusetts League of Women Voters has brought into being, including admission to the attractive Italian garden where luncheon, tea and dinner will be served each day, with local league women in charge.

Tuesday Club Holds Annual Luncheon

The annual Tuesday club luncheon was held on Wednesday at the November clubhouse. Covers were laid for twenty-three and the colors of spring were everywhere in evidence in the decorations — in the baskets of daffodils, bachelors buttons and pussy willows which decorated the tables, and in the dainty favors and candies.

Miss Fonnie Davis, presided at the postprandial exercises. Each member was asked to give a forecast of the club's activities one hundred years hence, and the witty responses picturing the guest night, the annual tea and the year's program for 2026 were much enjoyed.

The committee of arrangements for the luncheon were Mrs. Joseph Higginson, Miss C. Madeleine Hewes, Mrs. Roy Bradford, Mrs. Chester D. Abbott, Mrs. Harold Austin and Mrs. Frank L. Brigham.

The open meeting with a speaker on art will be held on April 15.

Calculation of Size of Statue of Apollo

The famous problem concerning the size of the colossal statue of Apollo on the island of Delos, which has worried so many savants, has finally been solved.

We are familiar with the Delos Apollo only in miniature, as represented on the Attic tetradrachm, an ancient Greek coin, where the god is shown holding the three Graces in his right hand.

At a recent meeting of the academy of inscriptions Theodore Reinach announced that he had calculated, with the aid of history as well as mathematics, the size of Apollo and the three Graces. This archaic colossus at Delos was the masterpiece, in gilded wood, of the sculptors Tectaois and Angelion who flourished between 550 and 530 B. C.

The three Graces, which were not grouped, but separated and erect, bore, respectively, the sythar, the double flute and the pipes of Pan. They stood in the palm of Apollo's right hand. In his left hand he carried a bow. The colossus and its three statues were destroyed by fire.

With the assistance of a Delian inscription which mentioned the weight of the gold crowns designed for the god and the Graces, M. Reinach estimated the relative heights of the figures as eight meters for the Apollo and one meter eighty centimeters for each of the Graces.—From Le Figaro Hebdomadaire, Paris. Translated for the Kansas City Star.

From Experience?

Elinor Glyn said at a Hollywood tea:

"Young girls are too idealistic. They demand perfection. Well, perfection doesn't exist.

"A young girl and her young man rose from a dim seat in a conservatory. The breast of the young man's coat was white with perfumed powder.

"The girl was embarrassed, but he patted her hand and said:

"'Never mind, darling; it will soon brush off.'

"She burst into despairing sobs.

"'Oh,' she wailed; 'how do you know?'"

Alfalfa Center

Cozad, a community of 2,000 persons in central Nebraska, is among the largest alfalfa markets in the United States. Records of carload shipments of alfalfa from Cozad for the last seven years show that from 1,100 to 1,300 cars a year are dispatched. In addition, the stations of Darr and Willow Island, near there, ship from 300 to 500 cars a year. Dawson county, of which Cozad is the capital, leads Nebraska in hay production, while 1925 crop figures show that the Cornhusker state leads the nation in acreage devoted to the crop.—Indianapolis News.

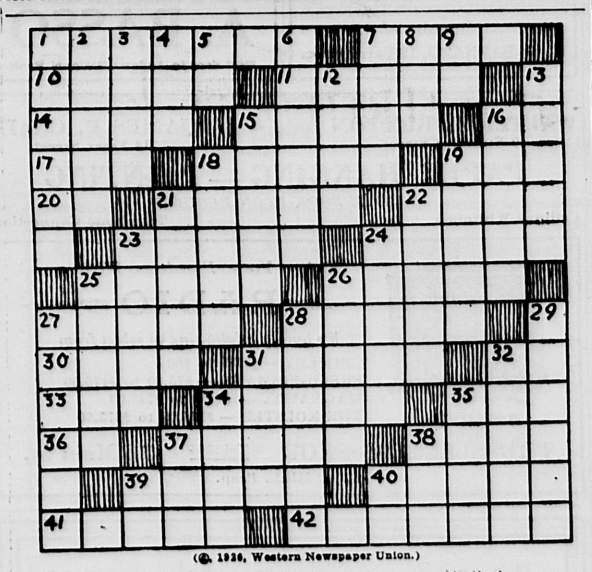

Mean Sneak Thieves

A man calling himself Earl Jackson appealed to the congregation of a Wichita (Kan.) church to pray for his deliverance from evil. After his confession of sin and repentance had brought tears to the eyes of many and a purse of $25 had been taken up for him, while he told of being left an orphan and wandering from place to place, and otherwise held the attention of the worshipers, his partner on the outside looted all the motor cars parked along the street by members of the congregation.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Observe 75th Anniversary

An interesting service was held at the Methodist church Sunday morning in observance of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the church. During the seventy-five years there have been fifty-nine different pastors among whom were many young men who took the pastorate while completing their theological courses at Boston schools. Rev. Hodgdon, a pastor of twenty-five years ago, was present at the service and made a few remarks.

John Howell, the oldest member of the church, was also present and gave a short history of the church. Mr. Howell was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

Rev. Clifford W. Reynolds, the present pastor, had received a number of communications from former pastors and read a telegram received from Rev. Adams of Evanston, Ill., who was the pastor preceding him.

The program for the service was as follows: Organ prelude, Mrs. Harry Wells; hymn, congregation; Apostles Creed, prayer, Rev. Hodgdon; selection, choir; responsive reading, hymn, congregation; Scripture reading, Rev. C. W. Reynolds; duet, Edith Moss, Anita Wells; history, John Howell; anniversary sermon, Rev. Hodgdon; past history and talk, Rev. C. W. Reynolds; solo, Mrs. C. W. Reynolds; hymn, congregation. The members of the choir were: Edith Moss, Anita Wells, Mrs. Amanda Stevens, George Lawrence, Fred Sanborn, Sr., Sam Moody, Robert Baker, Carl Wells, Mrs. C. W. Reynolds, Grace Russell, Charles Mason.

The treasurer's report was read by Sam Moody and the secretary's report by George Brown. An invitation was read in which the Men's Brotherhood was invited to attend the adult night next Tuesday evening with the Ladies' circle.

It was voted to attend church in a body the first night the new pastor preaches.

After the business, stories were related and a social hour spent.

Esthonia Signs Treaty With United States.

Washington.—One of the most recent treaties to be signed by the United States with a foreign country was with the republic of Esthonia, one of the young nations which resulted from the World war. It provides that amity shall exist between the two countries and arranges for the maintenance of commercial relations.

"Esthonia is usually lumped by Americans with its sister republics of Latvia and Lithuania as slices of old Russia inhabited by pretty much the same people," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society. "But each has an individuality of its own and a decidedly non-Russian individuality. The Esthonians have nothing in common racially with the peoples to the south, but are close cousins of the Finns, northward across the Gulf of Finland.

"Though situated in northern Europe, Esthonia is tempered by the farfaring Gulf stream, and is an important agricultural country. Another thing of American origin—the potato—has made its deep mark on Esthonia, and it has even been called flippantly, 'the Potato Republic.' As a source of alcohol the potato has been most important economically to the country. Every large estate has its own distillery, and before the World war great quantities of the potent liquid were exported.

"Russia was reluctant to have Esthonia set up housekeeping on its own account. The country, about as large as New Hampshire and Vermont combined, blocks a considerable section of western Russia, whereas it formed before a natural outlet for the larger country. The Esthonian railways have already played an important part in moving produce to and from Russia, and if conditions become stabilized in the latter country, Esthonia should regularly collect a tidy sum as a transit agent.

"Reval, known to the Esthonians as Tallin, is Esthonia's greatest port and city. It has existed for 700 years. With Helsingfors across the gulf, it formed czarist Russia's gateway and first line of naval defense to Petrograd; but to Esthonia, its commercial possibilities seem brightest.

In addition to its agricultural activities, Esthonia has numerous industrial possibilities. Already some of its water power is harnessed, and at Narva, near the Russian border, is one of the largest cotton mills in the world. Much of the land is still covered by forests, and the timber and wood-pulp industries are important.

Russian Waifs Form "Pickpocket Trust"

Moscow.—Following literally the Communist slogan, "Workers of the world unite!" groups of the vagrant children which flood Russia have formed themselves into local "trade unions" and "guilds."

In the Shadrinsk district of the Urals the street gamins have organized a "pickpocket trust," the specialty of which is evident. In Ekaterinburg groups of homeless boys who have specialized in petty larcenies have formed the "young bandit union."

The town of Briansk, capital of the province of that name, has been divided by the mendicant children into wards, each ward being governed by a commision of five "juvenile directors," and no member is allowed to trespass in the ward of another. Among the "unions" established by parentless children in Moscow the strangest is the "amalgamated brotherhood of young pigeon thieves." Only those who have shown special aptitude in stealing birds and reselling them are eligible for membership.

Old Abraham Stuck to Middle of Road

A man and his wife took in an aged and supposedly wealthy relative to live with them, thinking they would profit when the old fellow passed away. Later they learned that he hadn't much money, and they were anxious to get rid of him.

They agreed between themselves that they would start an argument at dinner. The husband would claim that the soup was too salty; the wife would declare that it was not salty enough. They would leave the matter to old Abraham. If he agreed with the wife, the husband would throw him out. If he agreed with the husband, the wife would throw him out. Consequently, at dinner, the husband said: "Rachel, this soup is too salty."

Rachel tasted the soup, and said, "No, my dear, the soup is not salty enough."

"Then," said the husband, "we will leave it to Abraham, and see what he says about it. Abraham, what do you think: Is the soup too salty or is it not salty enough?"

Old Abraham, who was enjoying his soup, didn't hesitate, but said, between sips, "Vell, it suits me."—Los Angeles Times.

HOOSIERS TO OBSERVE FT. SACKVILLE'S FALL

Incident Gave Northwest Territory to U. S.

Indianapolis.—Led by the Indians Historical society, a movement has been started for a general observance of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the capture of Fort Sackville (Vincennes) by George Rogers Clark and a small army of American pioneers.

The event took place February 24 and 25, 1779, and it is the plan to celebrate on those days in 1929.

All states of the old Northwest territory—Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Minnesota—have been invited to participate. Indiana historians hope that a permanent memorial to Clark and his men may be the result. An effort will be made to bring about a national observance.

Gained Northwest Territory.

It was Clark's daring attack that wrested the Northwest territory from the British and opened it to the Americans. It was accomplished only after the greatest of heroism by the small raiding force. Some historians have proclaimed the accomplishment as more important to this country than the battle of Bunker Hill.

Not only was it so important to the United States, but it also was the chief, and almost the only, military victory for the Americans west of the Allegheny mountains in the Revolutionary war.

Clark, heading a small force recruited from the pioneers and commissioned by Virginia, captured the British post at Kaskaskia, Ill. Soon afterward the British governor of the territory, who had been at Detroit, came to Fort Sackville at Vincennes and occupied it.

In midwinter Clark's band set out for Vincennes, determined to take the post or lose all in the attempt, for they recognized its capture would spell the end of British dominion in the region.

Surprise Completely Successful.

Through partly frozen swamp land, across flooded rivers, the men marched, ending with a surprise attack on Fort Sackville. Within 48 hours they had captured the governor, his men and the post.

In the treaty that followed the Revolutionary war, the Northwest territory became a part of the United States.

The Indiana Historical society has appointed a committee to develop plans for the celebration, which will come at a time when the eastern portion of the country also will be observing sesquicentennial anniversaries of the Revolution. It will meet soon to begin definite planning for the observance. The committee is organized temporarily as follows:

William A. Fortune, Indianapolis, chairman; Dr. C. B. Coleman, Indianapolis, director of the Indiana Historical commission, secretary; William H. Book, Indianapolis, executive secretary. Others are: D. F. Culberson, Vincennes; Dr. J. A. Woodburn, Bloomington; F. C. Ball, Muncie; C. J. Richards, Terre Haute; Lew O'Bannon, Corydon, and Mrs. Anne Studebaker Carlisle of South Bend.

Woman, Frightened, Gets Verdict of $200

New York.—What is the measure of damage sustained by a woman who, while in her apartment, arrayed in her nightgown, sees a man entering through the fire-escape window, who she believes is a burglar, but who turns out to be telephone adjuster making his way into the wrong apartment to install a telephone? Mrs. Evelyn Pillarella estimates her damage at $10,000 in a suit against the New York Telephone company.

A jury in the Bronx Supreme court fixed her monetary damage at $600, while a decision by the Appellate division of the Supreme court reduced the sum to $200, and provided that if she did not accept the lower sum a new trial would be ordered.

George T. Loughran, a tenant, applied for telephone service. He promised, but failed to leave a key for the telephone adjuster. The latter decided to use the roof.

He said he noted the location of the apartment and thought he had identified the fire-escape window leading to it. But he got into Mrs. Pillarella's apartment. She screamed, and when neighbors ran in she was on the verge of collapse.

Cats Desert One Ship, Try Trip in Another

Baltimore.—Sea cats have their likes and dislikes and determine what ship they will remain on by the ship as well as the treatment they receive from the crew, says R. J. Warren, radio operator aboard the steamship Cold Harbor.

Cats will make a voyage on a ship and, discovering they are not satisfied with it, will change to another vessel on reaching port, he says. It is not unusual for a tabby to sail for Europe on the Cold Harbor and return on the West Cohas, he quoted as an example.

Cats bent on changing ships are interesting, he says. He has watched one walk slowly up the gangway and eye the decks from the top of it. All looking well, the next step is the galley. If an inspection of the galley is satisfying, he studies every inch of the decks. Then he either walks down the gangway again or else curls up in a place that he will claim as his bed on the voyage.

SEEK RARE WILD ANIMALS FOR ZOO

Expedition Will Go to Jungles of Africa.

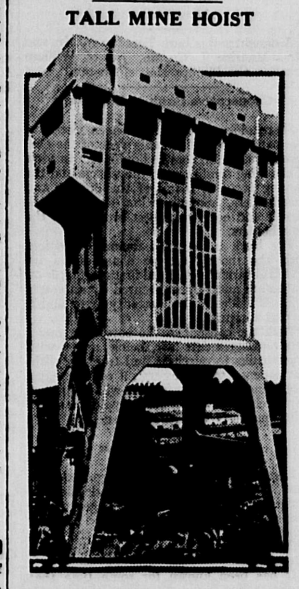

Washington. — Judging from the number of requests that have reached the Smithsonian institution for further information about the Smithsonian-Chrysler African expedition which will spend the spring and summer in the jungles of Tanganyika collecting wild live animals of rare species for the National Zoological park in Washington, the expedition has aroused greater popular interest than any similar Smithsonian undertaking since the famous Smithsonian-Roosevelt African expedition of 1909.

The two expeditions will go down in Smithsonian history as entirely distinct in purpose and doubtless in accomplishment. The Smithsonian-Roosevelt expedition brought back specimens in wild game for stuffing and mounting in the National museum, where today they are the most popular museum exhibit in the national capital. The venture which is now made possible through the generosity of Walter P. Chrysler will seek to capture and bring back live animals in greater variety and of rarer species than ever before attempted.

Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological park, which is under the direction of the Smithsonian institution, will lead the expedition. He hopes to capture animals which have never been seen alive in this country, and to install them at the National zoo.

The popular interest that is being shown in the Smithsonian-Chrysler expedition is scarcely surprising when it is recalled that more than 2,000,000 persons from all over the United States visited the National Zoological park last year. In this number were pupils from more than 200 schools, who came with their teachers to study natural history. These included not only Washington schools, but the higher grades of schools in many sections of the country which now make annual spring pilgrimages to Washington a part of their regular courses of instruction.

Sell Love Letters of Victor Hugo for $700

Paris.—One of the most remarkable collections of love letters on record—more than 15,000 of them—written by the former actress, Juliette Drouet, to Victor Hugo between 1933 and 1883, brought less than $700 when put up at auction recently.

This actress, whom Hugo loved, retired from the stage and lived a life of seclusion for 50 years. Almost every day during that period she wrote the noted author a letter, as he had asked her to do, although they were seeing each other regularly as well, and this collection, an average of some 300 letters a year, was carefully preserved at the express wish of Hugo himself.

Victor Hugo spoke of these letters in one of his letters to Juliette, in which he said "our life is there, recorded day by day, thought by thought. Every dream of thine, every suffering, is there. Those letters are so many charming little mirrors, each one of which reflects a view of thy splendid soul."

Gustave Simon, who, as executor of Victor Hugo's will and personal friend of Juliette, ought to know, says that the letters will disappoint any one in search of a thrill, as they are nothing but a collection of empty phrases, "full of adulation and adoration, far from giving that reflection of the inner life of the lovers," that the sale catalogue promised.

DENY JEWS MOLDED CANADIAN INDIANS

Customs Same as All Primitives, Says Scientist.

Vancouver, B. C.—Recognized authorities on the archeology and entomology of the American Northwest discredit the view of younger students advanced recently that Hebrew influences were transplanted to this part of the continent in the First century of the Christian era through the medium of Jewish traders accompanying expeditions of Chinese adventurers.

Prof. Charles Hill-Tout, a student of 35 years' standing, states he is in agreement with Dr. Franz Boaz of Columbia university, Doctor Sapir, now of Chicago University but until recently in charge of the anthropological section of the geographic survey of Canada, and Harlan I. Smith, official archeologist of Canada, all of whom have made intensive studies of the primitive races of the Pacific coast, that there is no foundation for the theory that the Jews had a hand in molding the culture of these peoples.

Jewish Customs Universal.

These students, who pioneered a study of tribal customs of the native races bordering on the Pacific, came across this theory 30 years ago and discarded it as untenable, says Professor Hill-Tout. A handful of the Jews may have crossed the Pacific with Chinese expeditions, but it is absurd to suppose that they could influence the people of an entire continent, continued the professor, pointing out that the customs claimed to have been transplanted by the Jews, such as fasting, offering sacrifices and purification rites, are common to all primitive tribes, not only of America but of the world.

"It is an easy error for beginners to make," he says. "Most people, through reading the Bible, are familiar with early Jewish customs and fail to realize that many of these so-called Jewish rites and ceremonies were in reality universal.

The aborigines of the Pacific coast, like all primitive people, believed in a spirit world, and they made a burnt offering of a man's ornaments, tools and weapons when he died so he would have them in the next world.

This custom could not be associated with the burnt offerings of the Jews, Professor Hill-Tout says, nor could the Indian custom of a man taking to himself his deceased brother's wife.

Most untenable of all was the attempt to prove the theory by a similarity of words, either in sound or meaning, he declares. Any one language can be made to appear related to any other language by the tabulation of numerous chance coincidences. Words of similar sound and significance do not prove relationship, as the linguistic construction is the only reliable guide.

Chinese Influence Found.

Professor Hill-Tout says other authorities were in agreement with him that there was nothing in the linguistic structure of the native languages of the Pacific coast to support the Jewish connection theory. Only those who have made but a superficial study of the situation would attempt to base a theory on such flimsy evidence, he maintained. On the other hand, there is reliable and definite evidence of Chinese linguistic affiliations, he points out.

Authorities are of the opinion that men of Chinese stock must have crossed over from China between 2,000 and 3,000 years ago, and settled on the Pacific coast of America. That all of these Northwest tribes are of Asiatic origin is borne out both by the linguistic affinities and clearly marked facial resemblance.

The folk tales, now being studied, are also closely related.

Men Physically Unfit, Health Educator Says

Berkeley, Cal.—Although college students have a fairly high degree of physical fitness, as a whole, "American men are unprepared to meet the common physical emergencies and demands of life."

This is the conclusion of F. L. Kleeberger, chairman of the department of physical education of the University of California.

"The inability of most of our young men of today to use the power of their arms, shoulders and middle body is surprising," he states, and "the danger from this is greater to the race than the loss in the power of navigation creditable to the automobile."

Brain matter cannot be built by physical exercise, Kleeberger believes, but he thinks the present generation should be developed sufficiently to enable a man to act quickly and accurately in case of emergency.

Jeweled Nose Studs for Women Favored

London.—Will the next fashion craze for women be jeweled nose studs? A London woman, Mrs. Muriel Blantyre, says they are wonderfully becoming.

Her husband brought back from India a ruby nose stud, such as is worn by men and women of that country. In a spirit of curiosity Mrs. Blantyre pierced her nostrils and inserted it.

"I was surprised to discover how pleasant the effect was. My friends who have seen it quite agreed."

It will be welcome news to the patrons of the electric company that at a recent meeting of the directors it was voted "that the light on the domestic service shall be run on an all night service commencing April 1, 1901." Superintendent Coleman has long desired to give this service and the present vote is an endorsement of his wishes. That the householders will appreciate this long desired improvement is sure.

Household Pet Knew Purposes of Knocker

This story is vouched for by one who had been for many years captain of a sailing ship. Several times during the past few weeks he had been called to the door by a "rat-tat" on the knocker just as he was comfortably settled down with his pipe, and on each occasion at first there was apparently no reason to answer the door. One night, however, the vestibule door caught for a moment as he opened it, and left only a small gap of about six or eight inches. Through this gap squeezed the household cat, a fine black one, and he guessed the animal had on other occasions slipped past unnoticed. Fetching an electric torch he examined the door, and found marks showing the cat had climbed up, held itself in position by a grip on the door molding while it raised the knocker, a theory which was later proved correct. After hearing the usual knock, the captain crept quietly round the side entrance, and waited until the cat repeated the operation, then dropped quietly on the mat and looked expectantly at the door.—London Mail.

Wood for Newspaper

Since the customary units of wood measurement—cord, log measure or lumber scale—do not represent an exact quantity, the cubic foot solid wood is used. Even this unit is variable as to pulp yield according to the character of the wood as to species and rate of growth. However, taking the dry weight of spruce as 24 pounds per cubic foot, the commercial yield of 100 cubic feet would be about 2,300 pounds of mechanical pulp., and of sulphite pulp 1,030 pounds. Commercially, news print is made from a mixture of 75 per cent mechanical and 25 per cent sulphite. Consequently, a ton of news print would contain 1,500 pounds mechanical and 500 pounds sulphite. Then 1,500 pounds mechanical would require 66.2 cubic feet wood; 500 pounds sulphite would require 48.5 cubic feet wood; 1 ton of news print would require 113.7 cubic feet or 2,728.8 pounds oven dry spruce wood.

Birds Great Travelers

The journeys undertaken by some birds are really marvelous. The tiny olderest—the smallest European bird—weighing but a dram, and some other avian Lilliputians cross the waters of the North sea on dark November nights, while some species of sandpipers migrate from islands well within the Arctic circle to New Zealand and Cape Horn. These wonderful aerial feats are undertaken by birds barely three months old. The Arctic tern, a common sea swallow, flies almost from pole to pole twice a year. —London Discovery.

Makers of History Forgetful of Past

It was at Baiae that a shadowy guest called on the procurator of Judaea, stayed to supper, even stayed (unlike Pilate, his host) for an answer to a casual question. Did he, the guest inquired, recall a Galilean of the name of Jesus . . . Jesus of Nazareth . . . crucified for some offense?

The old man frowned, groped in his memory, put a vague hand to his head and answered faintly, "Jesus, Jesus of Nazareth? I do not remember."

That exquisite effacement of the past is the perfect comment of an ironist upon the intelligence of historical characters, is the opinion of Philip Guedalla, recorded in Harper's Magazine. Pilate, one feels, was not alone in this unawareness of his own significance.

How many figures, faced in Elysium with eager questions upon their supreme achievement, must murmur a vague, unsatisfying "I do not remember!" It is so easy to miss the point of others that one may sometimes be forgiven for missing one's own—the more readily, perhaps, when it was a failure. For we may leave the memory of our failures to other people with perfect confidence. Posterity is never a tactful listener; and that side of our immortality will always be secure.

But these omissions often have a simpler cause. Sometimes deliberate, they are due quite frequently (Pilate's was such a case) to sheer inadvertence. The poor dears make history and never notice it; or they make it and then, like a posted letter, quite forget it.

Pledge of Allegiance Phonetically Rendered

Day after day the pupils in a certain school stood and solemnly recited the well-known pledge of allegiance. Then came a day when they were called on by the teacher to write the pledge. Here are two of the answers, said by the teacher to be typical:

"I pledge aleagens to my flag and to the republic for which it stands. One nation in the visable, and for liberty and just for all."

"I pledge a legion to my flag and to the republic for riches stand one nation invisible with liberty and just for all."

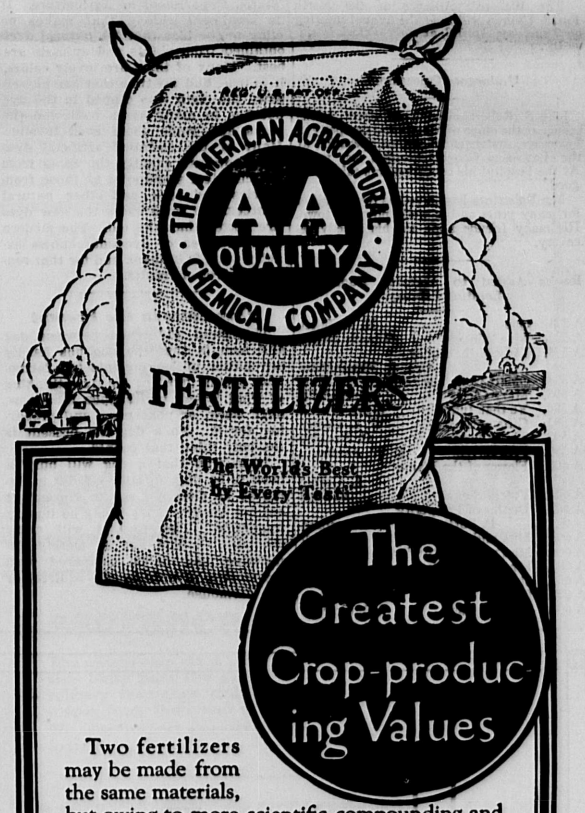

A similar perversion of phonetics is reported by a Miss Murphy, who teaches school in a Massachusetts town. Each day the children recited the Twenty-third psalm. One day a pupil was selected to recite the gem alone. Came the passage, "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life . . ." His version was:

"Surely good Miss Murphy shall follow me all the days of my life . . ."

Union Service at Baptist Church

In spite of wind and rain, about fifty persons gathered for the union service held at the Baptist church on Wednesday evening.

"Prayer" was the subject chosen for the meeting which was opened with the singing of hymns which emphasized that thought. Rev. C. W. Henry read the seventeenth chapter of John, Christ's prayer before he was taken in the Garden of Gethsemane. Rev. E. Victor Bigelow spoke on prayer, throwing new light on the familiar phrases of the Lord's prayer. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. Norman Bartlett.

Planning for Track Meet

Representatives from the different churches in town met in the X. B. K. rooms of the Free church Wednesday evening to draw up the rules and regulations for the big inter-church track meet which will be held under the auspices of Grenfell Chapter X. B. K. The date for the meet has been set for May 15 and it is hoped to hold the meet at Phillip's Oval, Phillips academy. It is planned to award medals for the place winners in the different events.

The following members of the X. B. K. of the Free church are in charge of the meet: William Barnett, Harrison Brown and Mayhew Stickney.

Modern Dyestuffs

Modern dyestuffs can be just as fast and give just as beautiful colors as any used in past times, says the United States Department of Agriculture. It is sentiment chiefly that makes us cling to the idea that the natural dyes obtained from plants and animals are best. Many of them are lovely colors, it is true, and the time that has passed since the cloth was dipped in the dye pot has in many cases mellowed the tones and made them even loveller. Many of the so-called artificial dyes used now are exactly the same from the chemical standpoint as those from berries and bark and other natural sources. In some cases the new dyes are better than the old. The modern manufacturer of dyestuffs knows exactly what is in them, and for that reason is surer of results.

Dog Lives in the Present

The great difference between dog and man is that the dog has hardly any power of looking into the future. Man spends most of his time thinking of what is going to happen tomorrow, next week, or next year, and preparing for it. To a dog the present is the only thing that counts.

It is true that a dog will bury a bone to be dug up later on, but in doing so he does not say to himself, "I am not hungry now; I may be hungry tomorrow. Therefore, I will make provision." The act is merely instinctive, and to be compared with the storing of nuts by the squirrel or the dormouse.

Final Square and Compass Bowling Averages

Roy Hardy led the field of Andover Square and Compass bowlers during the season just closed with an average 98 3-22. Harry Wadman is the real second place-winner with a mark of almost 91, although F. Robertson holds that position. The latter, however, rolled but three matches. Only two other bowlers, D. Preston and Henry Cairnie, were able to maintain an average of over 90.

Varied Ideas About Money and Its Uses

Probably more has been said and written about money than any other subject under the sun. Fielding, who spoke with the authority of a magistrate, once commented that "money is the fruit of evil as often as the root of it." Doctor Johnson said, "Money, in whatever hands, will confer power." In "The Way of All Flesh," Samuel Butler wrote that "money is like a reputation for ability—more easily made than kept." His modern disciple, G. Bernard Shaw, goes farther and says, "Any fool can save money; it takes a wise man to spend it." Bacon wrote, "Money is like manure; of little use unless it be spread." A quotation from Horace reads, "Money amassed either serves or rules us."

John Stuart Mill, in his monumental work, "The Principles of Political Economy," points out that furs, cowrie shells and even cubes of compressed tea have been used in various places as money. He goes on to say that "money is a commodity and its value is determined, like other commodities, temporarily by demand and supply, permanently and on the average by cost of production."

No article about money would be complete without quoting an American. It seems typical of the American mind always to couple money with work—they rarely refer to the one without the other. Thus John D. Rockefeller: "I determined that, in addition to working for money, I would make money work for me."—John o' London's Weekly.

SQUARES ARE CHAMPIONS

Come From Behind and Nose Out Trowels for Championship of Square and Compass Club

In fourth place a month ago, the Squares came back at a neck-breaking pace and Wednesday night annexed the Andover Square and Compass club bowling championship by a brilliant win over the favorites, the Trowels.

It was a battle from start to finish for the Squares, who started three points down. One point to the Trowels, and it was all over. That point never came, and a clean sweep was registered by the Squares to win a popular victory.

Begining the first week in March in fourth place, the champs began to clean up and won 19 out of 20 possible points. The Trowels had an equally good record and counted the championship as won. They cracked under the strain of the final contest and are in the "also ran" class.

The Squares won the first string by 10 pins but the second was a heart-breaker for the Trowels. They were two pins up as the anchors, R. E. Hardy and J. P. Christie started the last box. Roy chopped out a 5 while the Squares skipper toppled 9 for a two-pin win.

It was all over but the shouting, for the Squares annexed the final string by 16 pins, a total of 28 for the match and championship. G. A. Christie who has rolled with the Squares since they began to climb was unable to take part in the final match, his place being taken by Oxton. All the Squares came through in great style, G. A. Higgins doing his best stunt of the season. Mr. Thompson also hit a fine string.

The Squares were given an outside chance to win at the start, but by constant plugging and the record bowling of John Erving, who hit 105 for high single and 302 for best triple, they were able to claim the title.

By taking four points from the Levels, the Compasses secured third place in the standing. Harry Wadman with 97 and 275 was high man.

The jinx was still on the trail of the Gavels and they were forced to yield all the points to the Plumbs. This defeat sent them down to fifth place. They led the league for the greater part of the season but in the last nine matches they lost 32 out of 36 points.

In Wednesday's match, D. L. Coutts and Hadley were tied with 96 for high single, but the former had 274 for the best triple.

Another Diplomat

Five-year-old William, the son of religious parents, has been taught that Sunday is not a day for play. One Sunday his mother was surprised and horrified to find him sailing his toy boat in the bathtub.

"William!" she exclaimed. "Don't you know it's wicked to sail boats on Sunday?"

"Now don't get excited, mother," was the calm reply. "This isn't any pleasure excursion. This is a missionary boat going to darkest Africa."—The Open Road.

Suspicious of Columbus

Columbus had returned to Spain bringing news of a wonderful new land across the sea.

"How much shall I write on it?" queried the maritime reporter of the Cadiz Evening Bulletin.

"Don't write anything," replied the city editor. "Let Columbus pay for his advertising if he wants any. It's probably a real estate promotion scheme."—New York University Medley.

Probable Reason

"Well! well! Look at that fellow running and turning his head first one way, then the other, as he flees!" exclaimed a guest. "What do you suppose he is doing that for?"

"Not knowing the gent, can't say for certain," replied the landlord of the tavern at Peeweecuddyhump, "but prob'ly it is b'cuz he ain't able to turn it both ways at once."—Kansas City Times.

Changes at Golf Course

Another of those remarkable 18-hole courses that modern golf architecture has produced will be ready for play within a fortnight at the new Andover Country club. The golfers who took this venture over from the American Woolen company last summer are enthusiastic about the outlook.

The course and clubhouse building were started by the company and both suddenly abandoned. Some of the enthusiastic golfers banded together and took over the venture on their own and now they are about to step forth with a remarkable course and one of the finest equipped homes in this district.

The outside construction on the building has been completed and workmen expect to have the interior ready for decorators and furnishers soon. As soon as the gentle winds and sun of the advancing spring get their work done on the course, it will be quite playable.

John Keenan, formerly professional at the Charles River Country club, has been engaged to handle the golf end of the club and the members recently signed an efficient greenkeeper to a contract when John Flaherty, with eight years' experience at the Country Club, was engaged to look after the course.

The course was open for play for a few weeks last fall and a four-ball exhibition match was staged late in the season, but the real opening is coming next month. Those who have seen the layout have waxed enthusiastic about several of the holes.

It was laid out along original lines by the late W. H. "Pipe" Follett and it is a pity that that golfing genius did not live to see the result of his brilliant scheming to produce a natural playground. At least three of the holes are striking because of their ingenuity in capitalizing the natural surroundings.

The greens are the largest of any course in this section of the country, some of them probably too huge. They easily average far ahead of Charles River's in size and the texture is soft and smooth. Little trapping has been done, but this has been neglected deliberately, the idea being to find out from actual playing conditions just where they should be placed to the best advantage.

The playing order has been shifted from what was originally planned. The 10th hole will become the first and thence the sequence will follow to the 18th which will become the 9th. The present first will become the 10th and the sequence will follow, leaving the present ninth, the home hole.

The first and 10th tees and the 9th and 18th greens are close by the clubhouse, and in that respect, the course is like Essex County Country Club, Charles River and Sandy Burr. That means that double starting times will be simplified on busy days.

Like Kittansett, Andover proves that extreme length is not demanded for perfection in a golf course these days, in spite of the long distance ball. There are a number of short holes, but the rolling fairways accentuate the distances.

The heavy rough and bothersome underbrush have been cleared away and two weeks' work on the course will have it primed for the season.

One of the outstanding holes is the short 15th, 233 yards, which will rank with some of the best one-shotters around. Other striking holes are the 165-yard eleventh, all uphill and over a water hazard, the 264-yard second over a deep ravine, the 130-yard fifth, over a shallow ravine, and the 411-yard sixth, which looks down a wide fairway from a tee at the top of an elevation.

The man behind the operating side of the venture is Winfield B. Knowlton who holds the unique title of chairman of the grounds committee. His assistants are George C. Best of Shawsheen and Chester L. Patten of Melrose.

The other officials are: President, William Odlin of Andover; vice presidents, Parry C. Wiggin of Boston and Edward Ricard of Andover; secretary, Fred G. Sheman of Boston; treasurer, Harry L. Wiggin of Shawsheen.

Sunday School Easter Concert

The annual Easter concert of the Shawsheen Community Sunday school will be given Sunday afternoon in Balmoral hall at 3.30. There is usually a pageant given at this time, but it has been dispensed with this year, and more children have been given recitations. There will also be songs by the children, and all are cordially invited to attend. The committee in charge is Mrs. Frank Kefferstein, Mrs. Albert N. Wade and Miss Alice Chase.

Appointed Wire Inspector

Bertrand S. George of 57 Haverhill street was appointed wire inspector at the meeting of the Board of Selectmen held Monday. The new wire inspector has had considerable experience in electrical work, being employed for several years in construction work in the village.

Powerful Battleship

Can you imagine nine tons of death-dealing metal hurled for nearly twenty miles in a single broadside? Such an almost unbelievable blast of huge projectiles will occur whenever Britain's magnificent new 35,000-ton battleship Nelson lets loose her big guns. For, says Popular Science Monthly, the Nelson, newly launched, will have the most powerful armament of any battleship in the world—nine 16-inch guns, each firing a projectile weighing more than a ton. In addition there will be a secondary armament of 6-inch guns.

WOOD ESTATE SOLD

All Holdings of Late President Go to Maine Corporation. Arden Remains in the Wood Family

All of the property of the late William M. Wood, in Shawsheen Village with the exception of "Arden," the Wood Homestead, has been transferred to the Phillips Corporation of Maine by the Wood heirs. The transfer was recorded yesterday at the registry of deeds in Lawrence and is in connection with the purchase of the Park Square building in Boston by the Wood heirs.

Among the buildings sold are the Balmoral Spa, the Postoffice building, the Merchant's building, the Boys' Club house on Haverhill street and "Orlando" the property of the late William M. Wood, Jr. The Balmoral playing fields, including the soccer grounds, the tennis courts and bowling green are also acquired by the new owners. Houses and land on North Main street, Balmoral, York, Canterbury, Poor, Lincoln and Lowell streets, as well as large tracts in West Andover, comprising in all close to 700 acres go with the deal.

The new Corporation was organized recently by J. Sumner Draper of Milton, one of the owners of the Park Square building. Mr. Draper states that the Shawsheen property has been acquired as an investment and that there are no development plans in view at present.

Entertains at New Home

Mrs. James Payton, who recently moved from the village to Arlington, had as her guests on Monday at luncheon Mrs. Gayton Abbott, Mrs. Needham Brown, Mrs. Fred Blanchard, Mrs. Alex Tainsch and Mrs. Albert N. Wade. During the afternoon, the ladies presented their hostess with a beautiful picture for her new home.

Boy Scout Notes

The regular meeting of Troop 1, Shawsheen Boy Scouts, will be omitted this week.

Next week the boys expect to give an exhibition. An interesting program has been arranged by the boys and will be conducted by the different patrol leaders.

The troop has entered the big scout rally which will be held in Salem on June 6. The boys are already busily preparing for it and expect to make a good showing. There will be scout games, races and woodcraft tests for which points will be awarded and the local boys will strive hard to capture first honors.

New Arrival

A daughter was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Jr., of William street at the Phillips House, Boston.

Cooperative Bank to Liquidate

Shareholders in the Shawsheen Cooperative bank were notified this week of the decision of the directors to liquidate. In view of changing conditions in the village and the moving away of many of the officers and shareholders, reorganization seemed inadvisable and not in the best interests of the shareholders.

The bank is in sound financial position, with the money of the shareholders invested in carefully selected first mortgages on real estate and further secured by an ample sum set aside in the guaranty fund and a surplus account.

With the consent of the borrowing members, arrangements are being made with other banks to purchase and transfer, without expense to borrowers all of the loans. Beginning April 5, payments will commence to shareholders, on all money paid in as dues with quarterly dividends accrued.

Resigns as Manager

Local soccer followers will regret to learn that "Pat" Jennings finally decided to rexign from the office of manager of the Shawsheen soccer team. The action has been pending and came about after the game with Boston at Balmoral park last Saturday afternoon.

It has been known for some time that unrest existed between some of the players and the club management.

William Thompson, center halfback and Fred Watkins, left halfback, have been released by Shawsheen. Thompson has joined the Newark club in the American league.

The release of these two players possibly presages the departure of others from the Shawsheen lineup.

Indians Fight Hard

Boston defeated Shawsheen Saturday 2 to 1 at Balmoral Park in an American league soccer game. The teams battled for ninety minutes on a field that was a sea of mud, in spots over the shoetops in water. Shawsheen played one of its hardest games of the season and was unfortunate to finish on the losing end, for the least that can be said of the Indians is that they were entitled to a draw.

The locals got the jump after twenty minutes of play in the first period. Thompson got in a long kick and when Young mis-kicked, Barrone took it and drove the ball past Steele. Up to this time Shawsheen had most of the play, and just previous to Barrone's score, Steele had saved well on a beautiful header from McGowan.

The diminutive Westwater, Boston's inside left, seemed to thrive in the mud and scored both of the visitors' goals, the second coming after he had been injured.

Thompson played a fine game for the Indians. He adapted himself to the ground conditions where big kicking accomplished most and from one of these, Shawsheen's goal came about. Watkins and O'Donnell were both good mud-horses, but the former overdid it at times, and wasted much of his energy with all good intentions.

Gray was the best fullback on the field. He played a fine defensive game and if he did happen to mis-kick he was always quick to recover. His kicking from goal kicks was remarkable on such treacherous footing and he seldom failed to reach the halfway mark.

Flynn and Oliver were at a disadvantage on the heavy footing and were unable to shine. It was more a day for the heavyweights and these boys are nearer the bantam class. Flynn missed one splendid chance to give Shawsheen the lead just before the interval, when from close range, he lifted the ball over the crossbar.

Barrone at center-forward was much in the game, his goal being a good one. He is the best seen in the middle of the Shawsheen front line this season. The locals had to depend on a sick man in goal, as McIntosh was in no condition to play, but there was no other to take the position and it was left to "Mac" to fill the gap.

New Landmark Gone

The new landmark in Shawsheen Village, the massive flag-pole on the bowling green in front of the Administration Building has gone. Erected two years ago, it stood out prominently on the green. The pole, in two sections, was brought from Cuttyhunk by the late William M. Wood and was taken from a wrecked schooner.

A gang of riggers this week lowered the top mast and then sawed the lower mast off a foot from the ground, leaving 12 feet more below the surface. The sections were loaded on trucks and shipped to the golf course off Canterbury street where the flag-pole will adorn the grounds of the Country Club.
